

The natural connection - positive and negative.

Temperature and Humidity tend to rise and fall together. But Rainfall and Pressure on the other hand... well they have a negative correlation and one's fall results in another's rise.

*The values displayed at top indicate the Average values for that Season.